TEXAS FLOOD DAMAGE HEAVY

SCORES DEAD IN WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

SIX YOUTHS KILLED IN BLAST DYNAMITE CAPS IN MONTANA

MANY AUTO FATALITIES AND DROWNINGS DURING PRE-HOLIDAY WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press.)
Accidents reported over the Independence Day week-end took a toll of upwards of 80 lives throughout the United States.

Swimming accidents accounted for 43 fatalities, while automobile accidents resulted in around 38 deaths. The largest number of deaths from explosives reported from any one point was at Butte, Mont., where six young persons were killed in an explosion of dynamite caps.

Eight were reported killed in Virginia, five the result of swimming accidents, two from automobile accidents, and one accidental death from a shotgun.

In Pennsylvania, five were killed in automobile accidents, Michigan reported five deaths from drowning and nine from automobile accidents. Nine were drowned at Tillamook, Ore., when a fishing boat capsized, and three were drowned near Salt Lake City when their boat overturned.

In upstate New York there were 18 fatalities, one by drowning
and the others by automobiles, while in the metropolitan area of New York ten persons lost their lives in automobile accidents, seven by drowning. Five were killed by automobiles and one drowned in Ohio, one was drowned at Sparta, Ill., and three were killed in automobile crashes and one in North and South Carolina.

From Mississippi came accounts of four accidental deaths
in addition to five previously reported. In the state, three were killed in automobile crashes, two perished in a collision of a train and an automobile, one was drowned, lightning killed another and still another was gored to death by a bull.

Other points in the South reported thirteen deaths, eight from automobiles and four from swimming accidents, and one struck by lightning.

Blast Dynamite Caps Fatal to Six Boys

BUTTE, Mont., July 4.—(AP)—Six Butte youths were instantly killed this morning in an explosion of dynamite caps.

The dead are:
Joe Cranich, 19; Joseph Mussich, 18; Stanley and William Strizic, cousins, both 19; Raymond Kavan, 19; and Stanley Serich, 19.

The tragedy occurred at the ball park in Meadville, a suburb of Butte.

Louis Vernetto, coming out of church, stepped on a heap of debris near the ball park and went to investigate and found the bodies of the boys scattered over an area of 300 feet, indicating the force of the blast.

Residents said the blasting started at about 11 o'clock last night and continued throughout the night. A hole appeared in the ground five inches deep and a foot wide.

LEADERS OF NATIONAL THIRD PARTY 'FUSION' CONVENTION EXPECT TO NOMINATE TODAY

DEMOCRATS SEEKING LIBERAL SUPPORT; G. O. P. ORTHODOX EVERY SECTION OF COUN- TRY TO BE CAMPAIGN BAT- TLEGROUND THIS YEAR

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
CHICAGO, July 4.—(AP)—As the shouting dies, it becomes increasingly clear that the two national political conventions in Chicago have forecast a campaign cutting across party lines, encompassing every section of the country as its battleground and concerning itself deeply with prohibition and the depression.

The attempt of the democrats to appeal to that segment of popular opinion known variously as "liberal"
and "progressive" is an impressive element of the situation. So is the attempt of the republicans
to avoid every non-orthodox tenet, and base their appeal on a standard.

ROOSEVELT STARTS CONSIDERATION OF COMING CAMPAIGN

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE TO BEGIN SETTING UP CAM-PAIGN MACHINERY

EN ROUTE WITH GOVERNOR
OR ROOSEVELT, Detroit, Mich.,
July 4.—(AP)—Governor Franklin
D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential candidate, homeward bound after his acceptance speech to the national convention of his party, today began consideration of the campaign which he believes will land him in the white house next March.

The governor, enthused by his reception in Chicago, immediately after his arrival in Albany this afternoon will begin to set up the machinery for the campaign.

In the next two weeks he expects to meet with leaders of the national committee either in New York or at his Hyde Park home and draw up a "blue print" of the campaign.

The governor said before leaving Chicago that he intends to stress in each particular section
the issues in which that section is interested. There are, he explained, several issues, prohibition,
the economic situation, the tariff and international relations, to be expounded. He declared the planks of the democratic platform will be stressed in a series of addresses.

Beyond a number of short trips from Albany Mr. Roosevelt has not outlined the campaign he intends to pursue. It is generally believed he will go to the Pacific coast, but when he will make the trip is not known. Before the convention he considered, in the event of his nomination, going to Los Angeles for the Olympic games.

Before retiring last night, Mr.
Roosevelt held a long conference with A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general in the Woodrow Wilson cabinet, and the man who carried his platform ideas to the convention. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer who traveled on the same train with Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, expected to leave the party at Buffalo.

New Hobby Being Indulged By One Local Resident

Noble Davis has a new hobby
—killing tarantulas.

Mr. Davis killed twenty-two of these insects at his home, corner West Collin and South Fourteenth streets Saturday, it was reported.

While he discovered a tarantula
hole he pours water in it, causing the occupant to come out. The huge and dangerous spiders cannot jump well on land due to the grass, but can jump some distance if they are standing on the ground.

A number have reported seeing and killing tarantulas in Corsicana during spring and summer. The spiders, however, do not enter houses, remaining in the yards and in the ground.
The bite of these tarantulas is extremely poisonous. It is stated by those who are well-versed in the habits, etc. of these insects.

SENATOR SHEPPARD OPPOSES REPEAL OF LIQUOR AMENDMENT

FUTURE ACTION WILL BE DETERMINED BY OUTCOME
STATE REFERENDUM

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(AP)— Senator Sheppard, (D., Texas) author of the prohibition amendment today said he was opposed to repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment and to modification of the Volstead act and would vote against such action unless directed to vote for it by a referendum of his state.

In a statement clarifying his previously expressed views the Texan announced he also opposed submission of the liquor question and would vote against it.

Senator Sheppard announced last week following adoption by his party of a repeal platform, that he would vote to submit repeal amendment unless that action were opposed in the forthcoming democratic primary in Texas.

In his statement today, he said:
"I prepared somewhat hurriedly
the statement I issued a few days ago in reference to the prohibition plank in the national democratic platform and it did not accurately express my position in all respects.

"My position is this. I am opposed to repeal of the 18th amendment. I am opposed to modification of the Volstead act. I am opposed to submission of the question of retaining, repealing or modifying the 18th amendment and shall vote against such action unless directed to vote for it by a representative referendum in my state."

Party leaders have entered into
a tacit agreement, it is understood to nominate Borah, if he will accept.

Those familiar with his views pointed to the fact that he believes economic issues overshadow
the prohibition question to such an extent.

FARLEY PLANNING CONFERENCE SOON WITH ROOSEVELT

CAMPAIGN WILL BE DIRECT-ED PRINCIPALLY FROM NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 4.—(AP)— James A. Farley, new democratic national chairman, returned from Chicago today and announced he expected to go to Albany some time this week for a conference with Governor Roosevelt, democratic presidential nominee.

Farley explained he had no opportunity to talk with the Governor in Chicago.

The campaign will be directed principally from New York, Farley said, but national headquarters probably will not be opened here for two weeks.

PROHIBITION PARTY LOOKING TO BORAH TO LEAD CAMPAIGN

PARTY HAS BEEN STIRRED TO MILITANT SPIRIT BY PLATFORMS OF OTHERS

INDIANAPOLIS, July 4.—(AP)—
Still declining to disclose Senator Borah's attitude toward proposals that he become the prohibition party's presidential nominee, D.
Leigh Colvin, national chairman, returned to Indianapolis today for the party's convention.

Apparently his conference yesterday with the Idaho statesman, who has bolted the republican platform, did not diminish the prohibition question, had not dimmed his hope that the senator would permit his name to be placed before the party meeting stand for resubmission of the development within a day or two.

Delegates from 38 states gathering for the convention predicted that with the democrats declaring for repeal and the republicans for resubmission of the prohibition party would be an important factor in the coming presidential campaign.

If Borah or some other nationally known dry consented to lead the party, they were confident 1932
presents them with a golden opportunity for gathering in votes from members of the two major parties dissatisfied with their platform from their previous dry stands.

Party leaders have entered into
a tacit agreement, it is understood
to nominate Borah, if he will accept.

Those familiar with his views
pointed to the fact that he believes economic issues overshadow
the prohibition question to such an extent.

NATION'S ORGANIZED DRYS ON WARPATH AGAINST BOTH REGULAR PARTY PLATFORMS

CHICAGO, July 4.—(AP)—The nation's organized drys were on the warpath today against both party platforms on prohibition.

A proclamation by the national prohibition board of strategy declared unalterable opposition to repeal or submission of any repeal or modification proposal which would weaken or satirize the dry laws and conclude:

"We urge all friends of the 18th amendment to devote their best efforts to the selection of dry candidates to both houses of congress and the state legislatures."

Although taking to stand on the presidential contest, the board said it would recommend and publish at an early date the "procedure and active steps to be taken in the conduct of the campaign."

GOVERNOR STERLING TO SPEAK TUESDAY NIGHT COURT HOUSE

JUDGE HARDY WILL PRESIDE
WHILE JUDGE JESTER TO INTRODUCE SPEAKER

R. S. Sterling, governor of Texas, will speak at the Navarro county courthouse lawn Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the interest of his candidacy for nomination for his second term in the approaching primary election, J. S.
Murchison, Corsicana, Navarro county Sterling campaign manager, announced Monday afternoon.

Murchison is expecting large delegations from all sections of Navarro county Tuesday evening and also a number from adjoining counties.

In the event that rain interferes,
the speaking will be transferred to the Nat pavilion.

Governor Sterling will speak at Willis Point Tuesday afternoon. He is scheduled to arrive in Corsicana between 6 and 7 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and plans under way
Monday for a large reception committee to meet the governor in Ennis Tuesday afternoon and accompany him to Corsicana.

Arrangements have been made for loud speakers at the speaking place.

THOMPSON PREDICTS INCREASE IN PRICE OF OIL EARLY DAY

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER
FORECASTS QUICK RECOV-ERY GREAT INDUSTRY

AMARILLO, July 4.—(AP)—An increase of 25 cents a barrel in the price of oil was predicted here today by Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson. "A who congratulated the industry for being the first to recover from the depression."

"The oil industry has its house in order," Thompson said, "and the assurance from the Texas Railroad Commission that a definite policy of conservation will be strictly adhered to in every case should, and probably will,
bring about an immediate increase of at least 25 cents a barrel."

In a prepared statement issued here Thompson said the ultimate result to the commission's policy put into effect in the East Texas field last week and to be applied to other pools in Texas, would be a saving of $400,000 a day to the industry in Texas, plus a probable additional income of $200,000 a day, estimating its net value at $18,000,000 a month.

"A 50 cent per barrel cut, which would result from the lack of a definite conservation policy, would take $400,000 a day from the present oil industry income of Texas," Thompson said. "A hike of 25 cents a barrel will bring in an additional $200,000 a day."

Thompson said he was authorized by the commission to make the statement, and to assure the industry that the conservation policy would be followed to the letter.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES TO PROTEST LOSS IN ECONOMY PLAN

FIVE DAY WORK WEEK IS URGED TO PROVIDE MORE JOBS IN SERVICE

FORT WORTH, July 4.—(AP)—A five-day working week to provide more jobs and improved working conditions were stressed by speakers at the opening session of the annual two-day state convention of the postal employees' association and two of their auxiliaries
here today.

More than 500 heard leaders urge delegates to improve service to the public as the way to insure the permanence of their positions.

The following organizations met in convention:
The Texas Federation of Postoffice Clerks, the Texas State Association of Letter Carriers and the Texas Federation of Rural Carriers. Auxiliaries of the clerks and letter carriers also met.

Charles U. Sentilles, New Orleans, vice president of the national organization of clerks, said the logic of the economic situation "ir-

LEADER OF 1928 BOLT CALLS MEET DALLAS SATURDAY

ALVIN S. MOODY SEEKS WAY TO REBUKE COLOSSAL BE-TRAYAL OF IDEALS

HOUSTON, July 4.—(AP)—Alvin
S. Moody, one of the leaders in the Texas bolt against Alfred E.
Smith in 1928, today called upon the dry voters of Texas to meet in Dallas next Saturday "to lay plans for the defense of the Eighteenth Amendment from the violent assaults of its enemies."

Moody, chairman of the anti-Tammany democratic association of Texas and vice-chairman of the allied campaigners of Houston,
said in a formal statement:

"At the request of numerous friends of the anti-liquor laws of America, I again assume to address the dry voters of Texas and invite them to a mass meeting at Dallas on Saturday, July 9, at 9
a. m., in the Southland Hotel to lay plans for the defense of the 18th amendment from the violent
assaults of its enemies."

The statement bristled with denunciations of the action of the democratic national convention in declaring for repeal.

Referring to the convention's action, Moody said "the Southern Democracy will find a way to retake this colossal betrayal of its ideals."

"That the action taken at Chicago does not represent a single Southern state, and very few of the Western states, goes without saying. Nothing but dishonest misrepresentation of them could have brought about such a result,"
the statement said.

"On the other hand, the Republican platform, while committing no member of the party, forecasts
the submission of some type of amendment to the 18th amendment. And that, too, it was a very constructive amendment, we must be prepared to battle to its destruction."

"Thus the meeting called in Dallas is to be no partisan meeting.
Every one, no matter whom he may support for the presidency or any state office, who has the interest and is willing to help in the coming battle to preserve the amendment is urgently requested to meet with us in Dallas next Saturday."

Roosevelt And Garner Invited Press Meeting

The state conference of the Texas Press Association to be held in Dallas, October 5, the opening day of the Texas State fair, will be dedicated to Speac-er John Garner, democratic vice presidential nominee. It was announced today by Lowry Martin, president of the association.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential nominee, already has been invited to speak.
Telegrams to both Roosevelt and Garner were forwarded today by Martin urging them to be in Dallas as honor guests of the Texas Press association
state conference.

UNCLE SAM'S FOLK TODAY OBSERVE 156TH ANNIVERSARY DECLARATION INDEPENDENCE

(By The Associated Press.)
With a thought for the heroic past and a hope for bang-up days to come, Uncle Sam's folks today celebrated the 156th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Fireworks political and economic gave way for the day to those of a simpler kind, and millions set out for a good time.

In Philadelphia, where the Declaration was born, citizens and soldiers paraded to Independence Hall for exercises commemorating the anniversary of the signing of the document and translated its ideals into action.

At Washington the congress rested from its labors. President Hoover spent the day at his Virginia mountain camp. His Democratic rival, Franklin D. Roosevelt, sped back from Chicago toward Albany with plans for the campaign taking shape.

Uncounted millions made for the seashore, mountains and other pleasure resorts. Given good weather, the holiday-making throngs were expected to be huge.
In the metropolitan area of New York yesterday's parade, an estimated total of 1,250,000 people flocked to beaches and lakes.

NINE DEATHS AND UNESTIMATED LOSS SOUTH TEXAS FLOOD

RAILROAD TRACKS, HIGH-WAYS AND COMMUNICATION LINES WASHED AWAY

SAN ANTONIO, July 4.— Flooded rivers in the hilly ranching country west of San Antonio were falling today after causing nine deaths and an incalculable amount of damage.

Highways, railroad tracks,
telegraph and telephone lines were washed away and it may be several days before all the deaths are recorded and the damage can be estimated.

The known dead were:
CHARLES FREEMAN, Talpa.
MIKE ODELL, 19, Houston.
CHARLES H. GREENLEAF, 50, Olivet, Mich.

MISS IDA STEHLER, 29, Comfort.

J. W. BRUNSON, Austin.
A. MRS. REDMAN, Crane.
The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Floyd, Crane.

TORIBIO ALVAREZ, 30.
Rises on the Guadalupe, Frio, and Nueces rivers were the greatest in 40 years. From several points came reports that 28 inches of rain had fallen within 30 hours.
Dozens of small communities were isolated.

Kerr county, through which the Guadalupe flows, is known throughout Texas for the beauty of its scenery and there are many summer resort camps in it and adjoining counties. Kerr and the half dozen adjacent counties constitute what is called the hill country, an extension of the limestone knobs and plateaus, covered with cedar or shin-oak brakes, which begin west of Austin. Interspersed among the hills are streets of rolling and comparatively open country and on the lower-lying lands there are farming communities. The rougher country is split up into ranches, some with the greatest disaster in the history of the streams, were pouring toward the Gulf today.

There are any number of summer camps along the Guadalupe.

In the summer most of the small streams run dry. Their courses for long stretches are through narrow ravines in the "mountains," a heavy rain can cause phenomenal rises. The Guadalupe rises 35 feet at Kerrville within a day.

The crest of the flood apparently had not arrived at Gonzales and Cuero. The Leona, a small stream often dry in the summer,
had flooded its banks near John N. Garner's home town.

Ranchers could not estimate the number of sheep, goats and cattle killed, especially in the more level country. It was expected to run into many thousands.

SAN ANTONIO, July 4.—(AP)— Flood waters of the Guadalupe, Frio and Nueces rivers, leaving in their wake the greatest disaster in the history of the streams, were
pouring toward the Gulf today.

San Antonio policemen and firemen, headed by Captain A. D. Mc-Cormick, were on duty today.

FOURTH FITTINGLY OBSERVED HERE BY AMERICAN LEGION

PARADE, BARBECUE, SPEAK-ING, DANCE AND OTHER FEATURES ENJOYED

The 156th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence was fittingly observed here Monday with a celebration and barbecue picnic, with the Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American legion, in the role of host. All the activities with the exception of the parade at 10 o'clock were held at the Legion's new home on Highway 75, north of Corsicana.

The new clubhouse will be dedicated at 5 o'clock, with the pricipal address being made by George Hughes, Austin, assistant state adjutant American Legion.

The day's celebration started at 10 o'clock with a parade in the business section featuring the Locals drum and bagpipe corps, Battery D, 132 Field Artillery, and Headquarters Battery, National

SMILE BACK BUT SMITH REFUSES TO MAKE STATEMENT

NEW YORK, July 4.—(P)—A plan to bring the smile back to the face of the Chicago convention removed from the face of Alfred E. Smith.

Coming back yesterday to "forget politics for a while," the former governor, who led the fight against Franklin D. Roosevelt and lost, went to spend the holidays with his son, Arthur, at far Rockaway, Queens.

A crowd of bathers cheered with lustily.

The question whether he will support Roosevelt remained unanswered, for he said: "I have absolutely nothing to say for publication."

He was understood to have a European trip under consideration.

John W. Davis, 1924, democratic nominee for the presidency, returned from Chicago predicting a decisive democratic victory in November.

Mr. Davis was more clearly the choice of his party throughout the nation than Gov. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt

The home is at Stroudsburg, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt left Chicago last night and will arrive in Albany today. The governor immediately will take up the reins of the state government, which he handed over to a republican, the leader of the state senate, George R. Fearson of Syracuse, when he boarded an airplane for the convention city Saturday morning.

The governor's immediate duties that confront the governor is consideration of the charges brought against Mayor James J. Walker of New York City by Samuel Seabury of the legislative investigation committee.

Walker, together with all members of the Tammany Hall faction of the state delegation, voted for Governor Smith, an important figure in the movement of the Chicago convention.

Roosevelt at Buffalo.
BUFFALO, N. Y., July 4.—(P)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt breakfasted aboard his train here today and was met by a small group of friends and newspapermen. He is enroute to Albany from Chicago, where he appeared before the democratic national convention Saturday to formally accept the presidential nomination.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4.—(P)—Governor William H. Murray came home from the democratic convention today radiating optimism and good humor. He reiterated he would work for the party ticket and said he had received three invitations to head "third party" tickets.

"We can win with this ticket," he said, "but we can lose with it too."

"They made us wet up there, but we came home broke and we've got to be sober," he said with a laugh.

Governor Murray praised the action of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in breaking tradition by flying to the convention to accept his nomination, saying the action had won thousands of votes for the democratic ticket.

It was a very fortunate that Roosevelt came to the convention, because people will look more at what he said than at the platform.

In my opinion, everything in the speech was sound except the proposition for bonds and his speech will command many votes," Murray said.

Guard, and individual cars. The drum and bugle corps, headed by Neal Owen as drum major, led the parade, and was followed by the National Guard colors, and then the two divisions of that organization. The parade formed on Main street between First and Third avenues, and marched south on Main street to Seventh avenue, east on Seventh avenue to Beaton street, thence north on Beaton street to Third avenue, and east on Third avenue to Seventh street, where it disbanded.

At 10:30 the State Home band began a concert at the Legion grounds, where the scene of celebration shifted for the day.

A big barbecue dinner, served by the Legion, held the spotlight from 12:30 until 1:30. Members of the Rotary and Lions clubs were guests of the day, and held their meetings at reserved tables. Music for the dinner was provided by a Corsicana band.

The band concert continued until 2 o'clock, when the entire grounds were turned over to county and state candidates, who held a political row-boat race.

Assistant State Adjutant George Hughes of the American Legion was scheduled to deliver the dedicatory address in formal ceremony of opening the new clubhouse.

A dance planned to begin at 8:30 tonight will close the day's celebration of the Fourth of July. Music will be provided by the American Legion's orchestra.

Many hundreds of people of Corsicana and surrounding towns and counties were on hand for the observation of the Fourth of July.

The Legion's new home was in main street, west of courthouse, having been rushed to completion during the past few days. The speaker's platform, accommodating about 100 people, was built in addition to concessions and a big barbecue pit.

The postoffice observed a holiday schedule, and the banks and retail merchants celebrated the Fourth of July by closing.

Democrats

fast adherence to what they call "sound" and "firmly-established" principles of government.

The likelihood seems to be now again that the democratic party will win. If one does emerge, the prohibition question is its most likely vehicle. Even the dissatisfaction of the prohibitionists over the party plank has not set point of taking third-party action, although no positive prediction can be made until the organized dries have concluded their pondering and Senator Borah has decided what he will do.

Mr. Roosevelt says economic recovery is the outstanding issue. Mr. Hoover again and again has said the one thing that matters is to get the country back on an even economic keel. Mr. Roosevelt wants to try certain departures which Mr. Hoover does not approve, and the detailed Roosevelt program, when it is put into effect, will become a most important subject of inter-party debate.

Prohibition Matter

Both nominees appear inclined to let prohibition take a second look, but it is a question how far the voters will agree with them. No one who sat through the downpour of argument on that subject, deluging both candidates, can doubt that prohibition is very much uppermost in the minds of the rank and file.

It is not at all impossible, judging from the manifest concern of the great mass of the republicans, that party leaders may take the ball away from both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt and indulge, on their own account, in a wet-dry controversy that will all but eclipse everything else.

The democratic nominee's appeal to dissatisfied republicans was more direct in its acceptance of the prohibitionists, but the republican call to certain old-line democrats has been just as real.

In the east, particularly, the republican managers are hoping with what justification no one can say, that the voters will choose the democratic nominee who has been presented as a "radical."

East to Be Battleground.
The east, certainly, will be a battleground. The reason for a similar reason, so will the west. The Roosevelt strength in the convention was preponderantly western and southern. Already the democratic nominee is being called the farm problem and has shed a stray stone at "Wall Street." Senator Norris, the Nebraska republican insurgent, will support him. A very important part of democratic strategy is to strike hard at the normally republican west and mid-west.

Republican hopes in the traditionally democratic south are not as high as they were in 1924. The democratic nominee is being called the farm problem and has shed a stray stone at "Wall Street." Senator Norris, the Nebraska republican insurgent, will support him. A very important part of democratic strategy is to strike hard at the normally republican west and mid-west.

Prohibitionists

extension of the latter an unpromising basis for a third party campaign.

His friends have predicted his campaign activities will be confined to taking the case of prohibition to the voters for house and senate, regardless of their political affiliations.

In the event Borah declines to take the nomination, party leaders are discussing the possibility of drafting the former Governor Dan Moody of Texas.

Tonight's meeting will be more in the nature of a rally.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 4.—(P)—Hoping Senator Borah may lead them in a fighting campaign for the presidency, members of the prohibition party, stirred to militant action by the repeal and re-submission stands of the democrats and republicans, gathered here today for their quadrennial national convention.

The party's national chairman, D. Leigh Colvin, sped to the city from a conference with the Idaho senator at Washington, withholding meanwhile any intimation of how Borah had received his proposal. The senator, too, was silent, referring inquiries to Colvin.

Borah for the first time in a career of insurgency has bolted the republican presidential ticket because of the party's stand for the submission to state convention of an amendment intended to repeal the eighteenth.

Arriving delegates made no secret of their high hope that the Senator would accept the nomination. On the other hand, those in Washington familiar with his views were doubtful and quoted him as having said the prohibition issue was not one on which a successful third party could be based.

The release of a message from the senator was announced as a feature of the luncheon held today by the Women's National committee for law enforcement, which is convening a two-day meeting here. Whether the communication would disclose any indication of the course he plans to follow was a subject of speculation in advance of its publication.

With the convention opening this evening, the day was given over to preliminary conferences among the party's leaders attended by Chairman Colvin. These talks included, in addition to a report on his meeting with Borah, discussion of the party's platform.

For the vice-presidential nomination, there was talk of former Governor Dan Moody of Texas as well as discussion of giving him first place on the ticket if Borah should decline. If both refuse, the party's leaders hope to obtain other figures well known in national politics.

NOMINEE SENDS FOURTH OF JULY TAMMANY MESSAGE

ASSURED THAT TAMMANY WILL FOLLOW BANNERS
OF REAL DEMOCRACY

NEW YORK, July 4.—(P)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today declared himself "assured" that the society of Tammany will follow the banners when the cause of real democracy is at stake.

In a message sent to John F. Curry, Tammany chief, for the organization's Independence day celebration, the governor said:

"I am very glad indeed to accord to your request for a word for the historic Independence day celebration of the Society of Tammany. When we remember how small the little party of brave men who signed the Declaration of Independence on that most hallowed of all American anniversaries, when we realize how few their followers, how powerful the great nation they dared to oppose, and how seemingly hopeless the cause, we should be ashamed of the cowardice which makes some of our citizens today tremble for the future of this country."

We won that other fight for two reasons, first because we were the majority, and secondly, because our cause was right.

"The democratic party of this country has enrolled today against influences which are responsible by acts of commission and omission for most of our existing troubles—an enemy still controlled by those interests of personal greed which are primarily responsible for present conditions. They stand arrogant, intolerant as was the imperial government of 186 years ago."

"Yet, because we are undaunted, and because we have had the vision in our great platform boldly to declare our own belief of right, and because most of all we fight in a just cause, I am confident that we will win the coming struggle, as did those who signed our Independence declaration of so many years ago."

"I am proud to have been chosen as the standard bearer in that fight, I am assured that the Society of Tammany will follow the banners when the cause of real democracy is at stake."

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, who was greeted with cheering and handclapping, joined in the applause when Governor Roosevelt's message was read. Although no message was read, the crowd that filled the Tammany Hall auditorium shouted for a speech until Smith responded. He spoke briefly on the need for "keeping an eye on the situation," avoiding any reference to the democratic national convention or its outcome.

U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner, who was determined to speak, condemned what he termed the lack of a national policy on the part of the national administration for the last twelve years.

BRITISH MOVE TO RETALIATE AGAINST IRISH FREE STATE

LONDON, July 4.—(P)—The Irish Free State's reply to the latest British communication regarding payment of the land annuities leaves no doubt that President E. B. de Valera is determined to repudiate the financial settlement between the two countries, parliament was informed today.

Further, said J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, he has refused to submit the case to a court of arbitration drawn from the commonwealth.

"Therefore," said the secretary, "there is no alternative but to proceed with the financial resolution which I now move giving the government authority to tax imports from the Free State up to 100 per cent."

Debate on the motion began immediately.

FOURTH OF JULY OF 1932 FINDS NATION ENAGAGED IN POLITICAL - ECONOMIC WAR

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(P)—A new Fourth of July today found the capital, and the nation, in a political war and an economic crisis that promised to leave an indelible imprint on the history of the country whose ideals were proclaimed 156 years ago.

In four short months, the country will choose a president for another four years. That fact, in itself, was enough to influence at least a few of the men who make the laws. But coupled with the political factor was a common hope of recovering quickly from what used to be called "hard times."

Some lawmakers thought they had a remedy in a $2,100,000,000 relief bill. With congress in adjournment for the day, they worked to have the legislation ready for presentation tomorrow in the house.

The bill really was a double-barreled politico-economic effort. Its sponsors believed it would go through the house and senate. Democrats thought, and said privately, their political chances in November would be enhanced if President Hoover vetoed it, as high administration leaders indicated.

These same men—Democrats and Republicans alike—looked back on a seven-months' session of congress that made history and hoped they could go home soon, maybe this week.

They had seen sweeping changes in banking laws begin to have their effects; they had used war-time measures, including the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to side-track disaster for many; they had joined the president in an almost epic campaign that cut the cost of government.

NOTE IN BOTTLE BELIEVED TO BE HOAX; ST. PAUL YOUTH
STILL HELD BY KIDNAPPERS

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 4.—(P)—A new note that indicated possible light on the Haskell Bohn case was discarded today.

An unsigned note found in a bottle at Balsam Lake, Wis., and saying the note was held for ransom on Carlson Island in Balsam Lake, was believed by authorities there to be a hoax.

The finder of the note telephoned St. Paul police in the belief it might offer a clue to the whereabouts of Bohn, son of a real-estate manufacturer. Young Bohn was seized by two men Thursday. They left a letter asking $35,000 ransom.

Sheriff J. A. Olson of Balsam Lake went to the island but could not find anyone who knew about the note or Bohn. Sheriff Olson said he doubted that the missive had any connection with the Bohn case, since a similar note in the same handwriting was found here two weeks ago, or ten days before the St. Paul youth was kidnapped.

DEDICATE BRIDGE.
HENDERSON, Ky., July 4.—(P)—Governor Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky and Harry G. Leslie of Indiana headed officials of the two states at the dedication of the new bridge across the Ohio river.

SENATOR JOHNSON COMPLIMENTS TALK DEMOCRAT NOMINEE

APPROVES CLEARCUT ACCEPTANCE SPEECH; PAYS PERSONAL TRIBUTE

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(P)—Senator Hiram Johnson (R., California) praised speculation today over the part he will play in the approaching presidential campaign by issuing a statement highly praising the manner in which Franklin D. Roosevelt accepted the democratic nomination.

The California, who has been a strong critic of the Hoover administration, refused, however, to discuss at this time his plans for the campaign.

Paying tribute to Roosevelt's speech of acceptance and the manner in which it was delivered, he said:

"There was something fine, and gallant and exhilarating in Mr. Roosevelt's accepting the old tradition and at once when nominating arranging to meet the democratic convention."

The imaginative get a thrill from the democratic candidate writing in a speeding airplane the most important speech of our day, and in his whole history."

"The writing of such a speech under such circumstances is a tribute to the spirit and the good nerves of the writer. It is a tribute, too, to frankness and exhibits no fear of expression of views."

"What an improvement is this innovation over the old tradition, where a candidate sits like a spinx for weeks searching out weasel words and ambiguous phrases, with duplex and doubtful meaning that may be read in any fashion by any person or group."

"May the new human, manly method adopted by the democratic candidate in its candor and forthrightness prevail in the coming campaign."

Colorado Hoover
Democrat Is For Roosevelt Now

DENVER, July 4.—(P)—William E. Sweet, Democrat, former Colorado governor, and prohibition advocate, has advised Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt he will support his candidacy for President.

Sweet campaigned for President Hoover four years ago on the prohibition issue. He aided in placing Colorado in the dry column of the states when a constitutional amendment was adopted but recently has modified his position on the prohibition question.

Moody Call

Saturday, discuss the peril now thrust upon us and to lay plans for driving the forces of booze back to their haunts in the alien-infested cities."

Great Legislation.
Moody termed national prohibition "the greatest social legislation in the history of the world," and said it was "being assailed by selfish industrial interests, by brewers and distillers, and would-be growers and distillers, by an alien element in our country which is viciously attempting to force its ideas of morality on our country and by a literally pagan element of the elite circles of American society, which resort to near-blasphemy of using in their nefarious pursuits labels sacred to Christianity."

"Politically, we again behold the crucifixion of our Southern ideals upon the cross of the gang-ridden cities of the North and East."

"At a time when the best lands of our country are searching for a way to put meat and bread in the mouths of our hungry people a national democratic convention has presented to the voters of America as a cure-all remedy a mug of beer and a flask of liquor."

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE FEES DISTRIBUTION HELD BE VALID

HARRIS COUNTY LOSES EFFORT GET GREATER PART OF LICENSE FEES

HOUSTON, July 4.—(P)—The state statute governing the distribution of automobile license fees between the state and the counties was held valid today by District Judge Charles E. Ashe. "Simultaneous" with upholding the validity of the act, which had been attacked by members of the Harris county commissioners court on the theory it was discriminatory against the larger counties of the state, Judge Ashe announced he would dissolve a temporary injunction granted the county commissioners last December which restrained the county tax collector temporarily from forwarding to the state any part of license fees collected in this county.

Tax collector J. W. Hall had held in escrow $737,336 under the order of the court. The plaintiffs announced they would appeal. The state, through Assistant Attorney General F. O. McKinney, was arbitrarily and unjustly turned over to the state once, Judge Ashe's decision took in account the fact that a jury, trying the case on questions of fact, said that December 1931 was an arbitrary and unjust act affecting Harris county and certain other of the larger counties. The judge held, however, that despite the jury's verdict, the law was constitutional.

The 29-page judgment said in part: "This case was submitted to the jury only on the question as to whether Harris county was treated arbitrarily and unjustly in the allocation of fees as between it and the other counties falling in the same classification, the five other large Texas counties."

Having made a thorough investigation of the law and the facts, the court has reached the conclusion that the law and the facts as developed upon the trial justify the submission of the case to a jury and so he denies the relief as prayed for by the plaintiff and dissolves the temporary injunction heretofore granted.

"I think it is clear that when the counties initiated and built public roads, many of which became state highways, they were acting as agencies of the state and in that capacity incurred an obligation that was primarily upon the state, to provide its inhabitants with roads and highways."

"Acting in this capacity in incurring this indebtedness, I can see no objection at this time to the state reimbursing its governmental agencies for the expense of them in its behalf. I therefore conclude the plaintiffs' contention that the constitutional provisions in question are invalid should be overruled."

The law upheld provided for a county to keep the first $50,000 collected in automobile taxes but from its collections beyond that figure half must be sent to the state highway department until the state highway fund reaches $175,000. After a county has collected as much as $175,000 for itself, all additional collections must be sent to the state.

The commissioners contended the law operated to exempt many small counties from paying anything to the state, while it required the large counties to pay disproportionately large sums from their collections.

Few Counties Affected
AUSTIN, July 4.—(P)—G. H. Lloyd, auditor of the Texas state highway department, said the state received remittances from automobile license fees from but few counties under terms of the law, directing division of the proceeds between the state and the counties. He said the law was a Harris county district court.

Few counties collected as much as $50,000, the maximum amount payments must aggregate before the law operates to exempt many small counties from paying anything to the state, while it required the large counties to pay disproportionately large sums from their collections.

LITTLEFIELD TAX RATE, ALREADY LOW, WILL BE REDUCED

LITTLEFIELD, July 24.—(P)—Littlefield's tax rate for 1932 will be reduced from $1.50 at present, the city council has decided. Mayor, and Homer Hall and Pat Boone, commissioners, announced.

Bonded indebtedness, including warrants, amounts to $300,000. The city will be authorized to meet the sinking fund requirements and to build up a reserve.

Revenues from the city water and sewer plants the past year were sufficient to meet current operating expenses of the city and also to pay off past indebtedness of $2,900, the officers said.

President Big Lake Oil Company Is Ill

Dr. Lewis Barker of Baltimore, his attending physician, was out of the city today. Smith is president of the Big Lake Oil company.

STEWART CONFESSES

SLAYING OF AUSTIN NEGRO UNDERTAKER

FORMER CORNICANA NEGRO ALLEGED HAVE TOLD STORY OF RHAMBO'S DEATH

Carl Stewart, negro undertaker of San Antonio, formerly of Corsicana, who faces an indictment for murder returned by the Navarro county grand jury last week in connection with the slaying of N. W. Rhambo, Austin negro undertaker, was brought to Corsicana Thursday night by two Texas Rangers. Friday morning the accused negro is reported to have made a detailed statement to Sgt. R. E. McWilliams and Private O. Martin, Texas Rangers, and Bruce Nix, local detective chief, of the incidents and occurrences relative to the alleged kidnapping and slaying of Rhambo.

The Rangers returned to Austin where they were riding on Friday. The statement is reported to have said that the slaying occurred near Austin. The Rangers stated they would file complaints and carry out a search for the victim's body. The Rangers stated they would ask for dismissal of the murder indictment in Navarro county and for the trial of the accused man in Travis county, Austin.

The indictment was returned here following the finding of Rhambo's body in his (Rhambo's) Buick automobile near Dawson.

Attempts to Escape

The officers state that Rhambo wrote a note to his wife and signed a check for $300 at the point where he was shot when he attempted to escape. A shot hit him in the back of the head and another bullet was fired into his brain later, after his body had been put in the car. The Rangers said the victim wrote the note and check by the light of the headlights.

Stewart is said to have told the Rangers he threw the pistol in the back of the car and the officers said they would search for the pistol en route Friday afternoon to Austin.

Stewart is said to have implicated several other negroes in statements given during the past several days, but Ranger Martin said he had checked the movements of these accused and they had nothing to do with the affair.

He said he also checked the movements of Stewart from Austin to Austin and then to Corsicana.

Stewart was arrested in Hubbard and returned to Austin.

Ranger Martin said Friday morning the note written to Rhambo's wife and the check had been torn into small bits and thrown under the back of the Buick east of Dawson and Constable Billie Lawrence of Dawson had placed the check and note back together.

He said he is said to have told Rhambo he was in danger, but warned her not to notify the police.

Navarro county officers did not disclose what procedure would be taken in the case in view of the purpose of the investigation, the fatal shooting of Rhambo occurred in Travis county, apparently waiting until further developments.

The mother of Stewart is still in county jail here facing an indictment for alleged accessory to murder. Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse said Friday.

Party Loyalty

Declaration Is Made by Walker

NEW YORK, July 4.—(P)—A declaration of party loyalty was made today by Mayor James J. Walker upon his return from attending the democratic national convention in Chicago.

The convention has made its close the mayor said. "I am a democrat and, irrespective of any contingencies, I will vote the democratic ticket, as I always have done."

He said from this expression of allegiance to his party, the mayor declined to discuss political support.

DEDICATION OF LOG CABIN AND STOCKADE

WASHINGTON SHRINE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 4.—(P)—Dedication of a simple log cabin and stockade today brought thousands of visitors to the scene of George Washington's first battle of the French and Indian War.

A reproduction of the stockade was dedicated as a national shrine. Speeches by Col. Edward Spafford, past national commander of the American Legion, Major Emanuel E. Howard, representing the French embassy, and Col. Fitzmaurice Day, representing the British embassy, were on the second day program of the exercises.

Here, a few miles east of Uniontown, Washington engaged the French in 1753 when he was a young officer in the service of the British. Funds for reconstruction of the fort were provided by the Pennsylvania state legislature.

The dedication opened yesterday.

Woman Is Shot

In Gunfight After Robbery of Store

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4.—(P)—Mrs. Arvetta Smith, shot by police yesterday in a running gunfight after the robbery of a grocery store, was reported in critical condition today while officers questioned her husband, Edwin Smith, and his brother, Jim Smith, about the $77 holdup.

Police quoted the husband as saying he kidnapped the 25-year-old woman from the Ioma Women's reformatory at Rockwell City last Wednesday, trying to persuade her to flee to escape.

The officers arrested Smith Sunday after a 15-hour "orgy" sentence at Des Moines last March 17 and that her husband was under parole from a two year Oklahoma sentence for attempted auto theft.

To carry the message of these people. Special hand music will be furnished under the direction of Joel C. Trimble.

Rufus Hardy, former congressman, will be chairman of the speaking program. Gov. Governor Sterling will be introduced by Judge C. L. Jester.

Speak in Barry

District court and precinct candidates spoke in Barry at their candidates at Barry Saturday evening and Monday spoke on two occasions to open the week's strenuous schedule.

The candidates for 55th Representative appeared at a special speaking date Saturday afternoon.

The candidates went to Chatfield Monday morning to a picnic and picnic grounds after the big American Legion picnic at the new Legion headquarters on Highway 75.

Roane will be visited Tuesday night.

No official appearances are on tap for Wednesday but it is understood there will be two unofficial dates for Wednesday. The Francis picnic scheduled for Thursday has been postponed.

It has been reported, and the candidates are to speak at New Raleigh Wednesday night.

At Dawson Thursday.

An all-candidate celebration is scheduled at Dawson Thursday and a number of late office-seekers are expected to be on hand. The county candidates will speak during the afternoon.

Purcell will be visited Saturday and Kerens will be visited Saturday afternoon, finishing the week.

Absentee voting was scheduled to have taken place at the county clerk's office Sunday, July 3, but the tickets had not been delivered to L. C. Morgan, county clerk, Monday morning. He said there had been several requests to cast their absentee votes during the week-end. R. R. Own, secretary to the Navarro county democratic executive committee, announced Monday that the tickets had not been delivered by the printer.

It is expected the ballots will be available Tuesday.

Considerable more interest was manifested by voters in the approaching election early this week since the speaking tours have gotten under full steam. The first primary election, July 23, is the short way off and the candidates are making every effort to get their names before the voters and adherents are doubling their efforts toward securing the coveted nominations.

PIONEER CATTLEMEN GATHER AT STAMFORD IN ANNUAL REUNION

STAMFORD, July 4.—(P)—Pioneer cattlemen who rode the open ranges of Texas in frontier days, gathered at Stamford's annual reunion today.

A meeting of the Texas Pioneer Cowboys' Association, comprising stockmen who came to Texas before 1897, opened the program. The old-timers were welcomed by Mayor J. K. Brainerd, who was given by Walter Cousins of Dallas, historian and poet.

Mrs. Ethel Hall Ward sang a song of her own composition, "All Hail to Dear Old Texas," "Cowboys." She was accompanied by the Stamford band.

A rodeo with more than 90 contestants featured entertainment all afternoon. Clear weather attended the occasion.

Among those present were Ranger Captain Tom Hickman and Adjutant General W. W. Sterling, bands from Ranger, Aspermont and Haskell played.

Flood

Donald, Captain Dickman and B. G. Gerdner, made a hurry call to Pearall yesterday afternoon in response to appeals for aid from there. But, handicapped by lack of boats, the party was unable to do much.

Dozens of privately-owned boats and several government patrolboats were promised, but only two boats had reached Pearall at 10 o'clock last night.

Fear was felt for seven members of the L. Mills family, marooned at their farm home in the middle of a two-mile stretch of water. The family, including the parents, a daughter and four sons, were being held by an army airplane which flew over the scene of the flooded district yesterday afternoon. Later, however, only one form could be seen clinging to the dilapidated dike of a small reservoir where the family had taken refuge.

Unable To Aid Family

Residents of Pearall and the local relief party watched darkness descend and saw the family unable to aid the family. Floodlights and flares were requested by McDonald from army units here.

Many automobiles were lined up on the flying field at Pearall to bring lights, but it was later learned no plane had left San Antonio.

Two privately owned outboard motor boats reached the scene, eight miles south of Pearall at 10 p. m.

Two boats started away toward the main channel of the Frio river bearing Mack Bee, Dan Snyder, J. K. Gerdner, and other relief men. Armstrong and C. H. Thompson. One of the boats fouled its motor in brush and both were forced to turn back. The family is marooned on the other side of the channel and it is considered doubtful that a small boat could survive in the raging stream.

Prepare for Flood Waters

While residents along the head waters of the Frio river are preparing for the losses and burying their dead, dwellers on the lower reaches of the streams prepared to bear the brunt of the raging waters.

Three rivers, south of where the Frio and Nueces meet, expected to have flood waters down upon them during the day. However, it was not thought the towns proper would be endangered.

Paralyzed highway travel was beginning to show signs of life this morning, according to William H. Purling, manager of the highway department in the chamber of commerce here.

The Guadalupe river had receded enough at Comfort for cars to go through although the new concrete bridge there was torn apart. Kerrville, in the center of the state, had hit, can be reached but additional rainfall would again close the road and endanger travelers.

Sabinal and Uvalde, cut off by the Frio and Nueces rivers since Friday night, also can be reached. The Laredo highway, however, probably will be out for at least a day. The Frio river had covered the highway at Laredo, with almost two miles of water. Laredo can be reached by way of Alice and Hebbronville. Eagle Pass can be reached by way of Uvalde.

Hooper and Corpus Christi and Victoria remained open, but motorists were advised to proceed with caution.

Railroad travel west of San Antonio was at a standstill. Miles of track and bridges washed out.

Attempts to Form Third Party Cause Lie Being Passed

KANSAS CITY, July 4.—(P)—Attempts to fuse various groups into a third party at a national convention here developed a row today over a resolution demanding the release from prison of Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, sentenced for the San Francisco Preparedness day bombing.

"The delegates have uttered a falsehood," the Rev. Otis L. Spurgeon of Kansas City, shouted in answer to the charge of Al Reed of North Dakota, a Mooney sympathizer, that Spurgeon had browbeaten the resolutions committee.

"You are a liar," shouted Reed. Roland R. Bruner, Kansas City, chairman of the convention and national committeeman of the Liberty party, thrust the delegates apart and ordered them to their seats.

"This is a unity party," he told them.

W. H. Wheeler, convention keynote speaker, objected to the Mooney resolution and was supported by Spurgeon who declared Mooney was "California's business."

L. G. Weller, California delegate, made a strong plea for adoption.

The resolution was temporarily withdrawn.

In quieting the shouting delegates, Bruner said:

"People are crying issue is money. People are crying issue is food. They are fighting for food from trash piles. Let's get together. It's the only way we can save the country."

Norris Asks Action On Farm Board Probe

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(P)—An immediate investigation of the farm board was demanded today by Senator Norris (R., Neb.), author of a resolution for an inquiry.

The senate ordered that investigation be conducted by the agricultural committee has made no move however to open the inquiry because of the heavy legislative program before the senate.

Norris said that the chairman of the agriculture committee call a subcommittee together and launch this inquiry.

He did not think the delay is justified. The inquiry ought to have been started long ago.

THREE CANDIDATES SPEAK

NACOGDOCHES, July 4.—(P)—George V. Terrence, candidate for congressman-at-large for place over Oscar Holcomb, candidate for place two, and Bill Lea, candidate for place three, were the principal speakers at a picnic at Old Linwood, near here today. Candidates for other public office also spoke.

"We Do Not Feel

That this is the time to raise prices. Therefore we are absorbing all Federal Tax on toilet goods and candy. And in many instances we have reduced the price."—Duke & Ayres, Inc.

MINISTER SAYS PROHIBITION PLANS NOT ACCEPTABLE

SHREVEPORT, La., July 4.—(P)—Dr. M. E. Dodd, vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention and pastor of the First Baptist church of Shreveport, told his congregation last night that the prohibition plank of the democratic and Republican parties are not acceptable to 4,000,000 Southern Baptists.

He criticized John D. Rockefeller, Jr., because of his recent favoring repeal of the 18th amendment. The latter likewise is not acceptable to Southern Baptists, the pastor said.

"Whom shall we vote for?" he asked. "There is obviously no choice today between the two parties on the prohibition question. Furthermore, based upon the Southern Baptist Convention's action which condemns alike re-embodiment and repeal, there is nothing acceptable to those in either major party."

"Our only alternative would be to support a strict prohibition party as against both parties. If we vote either the Democratic or Republican party, we must find other reason for making our choice between them than the prohibition question."

Dr. Dodd termed all talk about re-submission as "simply a part of the strategy of the wets seeking repeal."

He described the Democratic and Republican prohibition planks as identical in character and objective, and proposed only the method proposed to reach the common objective of repeal.

Life when the swirling flood waters of the Guadalupe river descended on Camp Mystic near Houston, according to word received here today from J. A. Platt of Houston.

Mrs. Plunkett has been at Camp Mystic with her daughter, Virginia, a counselor, and her mother, Mrs. M. D. Platt, since the camp opened several days ago. Details of Mrs. Plunkett's escape were not known.

Mr. Platt, whose 15-year old son Arthur is at Camp Mystic, near Ingram, hurried to the scene of the flood yesterday. He got as far as Kerrville, where high water prevented him from going further.

Robert Crute, who owns and directs Camp Rio Vista wired relatives of all Houston boys in his camp that while most of the camp shacks were destroyed by the water, the boys had taken to the high hills and are safe. They have dry clothing, blankets, water and food for a short time. Camp Mystic was wiped out, he wired.

SAN ANTONIO, July 4.—(P)

Planes of the twelfth observation group at Brooks Field were standing by today waiting any possible call for urgent supplies in flooded areas in southwest Texas.

Pilots and mechanics for the planes have been designated and the ships fully serviced for any emergency call for mercy that may be deemed necessary, including the services of medical officers. In addition to the observation planes waiting on the flying line, several trimotors also are being held in readiness.

JULY THE FOURTH
Happy birthday, Uncle Sam!
And may this your comfort be!
Not that you are trouble-free;
Not that you are lazy and gay
You may spend your holiday
But that all your children true
Share the cares that fall to you.

Happy birthday, Uncle Sam!
Happy, tho' the skies are gray
And uncertain seems the way,
In the thought that faithful still
With an undivided will,
All for one and one for all,
We shall rally when you call.

Happy birthday, Uncle Sam!
May the skies of freedom ring
With the hymn we bravely sing;
May you find that we remain
Still unspoiled by glittering gain
Sound at heart and body stout
In these troubled days of doubt.

Happy birthday, Uncle Sam!
Not the happiness of ease;
Not the calm of summer seas,
But the deeper joy of pride
Born of knowledge far and wide
Loyal hearts, devoted, true,
Share the tasks that fall to you.

---By Clive Weed

THE CENTENNIAL

In 1936 Texas will have rounded out one hundred years of independence—ten of them as an independent republic and ninety as one of the greatest of the free states that make up the mightiest republic in all history," writes George L. Seitz, editor, Texas Opinion, Houston.

Continuing Editor Seitz discusses the proposed Centennial celebration as follows:

"Ninety-six of these hundred years have seen the wilderness that was Texas transformed into a cultivated empire that sustains six million civilized people. These years have seen Texas as a railroad pile up a total main line mileage that is not equaled by any of the sister states; they have seen Texas take a leading place among the cotton, cattle, wool and mohair producing states; they have seen the length and breadth of the state spanned by ribbons of concrete that tie community to community, and make Texas a social and economic entity; they have seen Texas as become easily the great refining area of the known world; they have seen its rivers harnessed and its energy transmuted into electricity and carried to factories and industries in every nook and corner of the commonwealth; they have seen great universities established where Indian council fires were once the epitome of culture; they have seen bayous converted into ship channels and bays made world ports; they have seen deserts made to bear oranges, lemons and grapefruit and they have seen great cities rise where pioneers once traded pelts for powder and buffalo meat for flour.

"Probably no country ever developed so rapidly, and in so many diversified directions, as has this free state, which less than a hundred years ago was the neglected northernmost province of an alien, Latin-American state. Yet, strangely, no other area today offers so many opportunities for further development; and none will repay so richly the investment of productive labor and productive capital.

"In 1936 one hundred years will have elapsed since a handful of Texas patriots fought and won the Battle of San Jacinto—dubbed by Clarence Wharton the 'Sixteenth Decisive Battle'—routing the soldiers of the Mexican dictator and giving to the world another frontier where the principles and institutions of free men might be planted.

"To celebrate the hundredth anniversary of that battle, and to show the world, as well as its own people, the extent of present opportunity, a great Centennial Celebration is proposed to the people of Texas. It is the suggestion of the committee of prominent Texas citizens who foster the project, that the Centennial be financed by the people, for the people. In other words, it is proposed that the legislature appropriate sufficient money for fitting observance of the anniversary.

"To do this, a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislative appropriation must be voted by the people. In some quarters it is being said that present conditions do not justify the expenditure of this modest sum.

"There is no reason whatever to justify the assumption that the present depression will extend into 1936, and less to warrant planning for 1936 in the light of present conditions. But even were there reason to believe conditions would not be substantially improved four years from now, Texas surely is not so poor as to be restrained from fitting observance of the achievements of one hundred years of freedom.

"As a matter of fact, the Centennial will bring in from out-of-state much more money than Texas people will spend for the celebration. But that is more or less beside the question. For Texas pride never has, and will not now, suffer measurement by a gauge marked in dollars and cents.

"O-K Texas; O-K Centennial Committee; O-K Managing—Director, Governor Mayes. Texans are with you. On with the Centennial."

JULY.

If the time ever comes when the calendar reformers decide that new names should be given to the months, history and romance will lose much by the disappearance of July.

Ever since the year 46 B. C., when Gaius Julius Caesar allowed his name to displace that of the fifth Roman month, Quintilis, the second summer month has been known by some term corresponding to the English rendering, July. July, which is now the seventh month of the Gregorian calendar, is fixed immovably in the history of two great republics, for it was on the fourth day of that month that America had its origin as a separate nation, and it was on the fourteenth that France, America's ally in the struggle for independence, broke with its royal masters and struck out boldly for its own liberty.

Never while these two republics stand will July cease to be remembered without patriotic emotion.

TO MAKE TRAFFIC SAFER.

The growing inter-state use of the automobile for business and pleasure probably will eventually bring about uniform traffic laws and regulations for all of our states. This is as it should be. Under existing laws very few states agree on the various regulations, which frequently results in residents from one state unconsciously and unintentionally violating the traffic codes of a sister state.

Recently a traffic law conference was held in Washington and attended by representatives of practically all of the states. Representatives returned with the word that 1933 would find the legislatures of Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan considering an enactment of a uniform traffic code governing the use of automobiles and that none of the states would set any regulations differing from those of the others. A further statement was made that within 10 years every state east of the Mississippi would be governed by a uniform traffic code.

This endeavor on the part of our motor vehicle officials is merely common sense and good judgment. The proposal is the logical outcome of the existence of a conglomeration of traffic rules which bring only confusion and embarrassment to the non-resident visitor and driver.

GOVERNMENT ENDED FISCAL YEAR DEEP IN RED COLUMNS

BIG TASK CONGRESS NOW NEAR END WAS TO PROVIDE NEW REVENUE

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—The government ended the fiscal year last night with a $2,885,000,000 deficit, compared with one of $903,000,000 for 1931.

In making the announcement today, Secretary Mills of the treasury said total receipts for the year amounted to $2,121,000,000, a decline of $1,196,000,000 from 1931, while expenditures were $5,006,000,000, a gain of $786,000,000 over the previous year.

The increase in expenditures may be accounted for by expanded governmental construction activities and payments under the settlement of war claims act, the postal deficiency and payment for the capital stock of the reconstruction finance corporation and the federal land banks.

Mills said retirements of United States obligations to meet sinking fund requirements and payments against ordinary receipts total $412,000,000, so that the deficit, exclusive of debt retirement, amounted to $2,473,000,000.

The total gross debt outstanding was increased by $2,885,000,000 during the year.

One of the principal tasks of congress this session has been the enactment of legislation to make the budget balance during the present fiscal year.

It passed the new revenue law to increase taxes by more than a billion dollars and the national economy bill to reduce expenditures by $150,000,000 to $175,000,000.

Mills said "the federal finances for the fiscal year just closed reflect the effect of the unprecedented depression upon both the revenues and the outlays of the government."

STILL ATTEMPTING TO MAKE AMERICA PAY FOR WORLD WAR

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 1.—(AP)—Delegates to the debts and reparations conference apparently have abandoned hope of achieving a definite settlement at this time and today the five creditor powers were trying to work out a formula in which solution of the reparations issue would be hitched up with American action to reduce the debts of her former allies.

In a well-informed quarter it was said the five powers have virtually decided to draft an agreement stating reparations can not be solved without the help of the United States.

To this five-power agreement would be appended the acceptance or refusal of Germany. In a source close to the German delegation it was said Chancellor von Papen told Prime Minister MacDonald this morning that he could not accept such a proposal.

Texan Was Selected by Democrats as Candidate Vice-Presidency Today

CHICAGO STADIUM, July 2.—(P)—John N. Garner of Texas was nominated by acclamation today by the democratic national convention.

By BYRON PRICE (Associated Press Staff Writer).

CHICAGO STADIUM, July 2.—(P)—Their national convention all over but the shouting, the Democrats today selected John N. Garner of Texas as their vice-presidential nominee, and named John N. Garner as their running mate.

With a dramatic touch which made new political precedent, Gov. Roosevelt came from Albany by airplane to receive his commission of leadership directly from the delegates in the stadium today to hear and cheer the acceptance of their presidential nominee, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, and to name John N. Garner as his running mate.

His appearance was the last act of a three-week drama which had seen the governor's long journey by the cheers of both parties.

Just preceding his reception and his acceptance of the supreme generalship of the Democracy, the delegate, called in accordance with his wish by Speaker Garner for vice president and Garner sent word from Washington he would accept.

So thoroughly pre-arranged was the Garner nomination that many of the delegates had left Chicago during the night for home.

Smith is Absent. Conspicuously absent was Alfred E. Smith, Roosevelt's long-time friend and political ally, who was the only one of the 1932 candidates against him who did not withdraw last night when the Roosevelt victory became apparent.

Will listen in to questions whether he would support the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, Smith arranged to leave for home an hour before the Roosevelt plane was used to transport him. His closest friends thought it likely he would retire from public attention, possibly go abroad.

News that Gov. Roosevelt's plane was running late and schedule, forecasting his arrival in the afternoon, complicated plans of the convention officials.

Convention Convened Late. They made no move to call the final session until 1 o'clock after the fixed hour of 1 o'clock. The assembling delegates plainly were tired after a full week of whirling activity. Few had yet taken a nap after the all-night session Thursday.

Two overalls carpenters appeared on the speakers' platform and hammered into place a special railing to aid Governor Roosevelt to climb behind the speaker's stand. The special preparations were the same as those which have been provided at many other public places for his convenience since he has been partially the vigor of his lower limbs.

Representative John McDuffie of Alabama, Garner's close personal friend and Democratic whip of the House, was chosen to make the nominating speech for him. McDuffie took his place on the platform soon after 1:30 p. m., but he had a long wait.

Although Smith had taken his leave of the convention, many of the delegates who stood by him to the end were in their places on the floor for the Roosevelt-Garner fight.

They included Governor Ely of Massachusetts, who had placed him in nomination against Roosevelt, and Senator Wain of the Bay State section just before the speakers' stand. But the big Tammany speaker was almost empty and there were many vacancies among Frank Hague's New Jerseyites.

At 1:53 p. m. almost an hour before the convention was to begin, the convention chairman, asked for order. At that time there were only small empty spaces on the floor, but the galleries were not half filled.

A meeting of the new Democratic national committee was announced by the chairman for tonight. It was the expectation of New York that "Big Jim" Farley of New York would be chosen national chairman.

Present Garner's Name. Mrs. Walter Brower, a delegate from Birmingham, sang "The Swallow River" as the national anthem. Then called for nominations for the vice presidency.

Alabama, first on the alphabetical list, yielded to "the great state of Texas." The Texas across the hall raised their hands, and Representative Sam Rayburn presided. A few days ago, said McDuffie, the Republicans everywhere predicted that the Democrats had lost among the Democrats and beyond their hopes of the future thereon.

"But the action of the convention in choosing the gallant son of New York as the standard bearer has chilled the hearts of Republicans throughout the country and paved the way for their defeat in November."

Let the country understand there is harmony in the Democratic party.

Good Sports. "We have our differences, but Democrats are good sports. In the American people are thinking they call upon the Democratic party for leadership."

This day and this hour there is a demand for a deal. We will answer the call. We will answer it in the future as we have in the past. The call will not be in vain. It is my happy privilege, comrades, to come from the Southland and from the banner of democracy without defeat, and which has held the lines in 1928 to say that first on the roll call in November next, Alabama will answer 'Aye' almost unanimously.

"Recognizing the ability, the sterling character, the rugged honesty of the Hon. John Garner, remembering the record he has made as a leader, recognizing that John Garner is a real red-blooded man, Alabama is proud to place his name before this convention as the running mate for the sterling son of New York."

Briefly he reviewed Garner's 20 years in public life, calling him "a master of the science of government."

Curley Speaks for Porto Rico. Speaking for the representatives of Porto Rico, Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, Massachusetts, leader for Roosevelt, seconded Garner.

He had been a candidate for delegate in his home state, but was defeated in the primary. Curley hammered the Republicans for the unemployment situation and recalled Franklin Roosevelt's plea for the forgotten man. "This great Texan may be relied upon to look after the known man, and so as a delegate from the beautiful island of Porto Rico, it becomes my honor to second the nomination of John N. Garner for vice president."

While Curley was speaking, Iowa reconsidered and sent up word it would withdraw Tinley, making it unanimous.

CURTIS CONVICTED CONNECTION WITH LINDBERGH CASE

NORFOLK HOAXER FOUND GUILTY BY JURY WHICH RECOMMENDS MERCY

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 2.—(P)—A jury of seven men and five women convicted John Hughes Curtis today and by that verdict expressed their considered decision that he was no hoaxer, as he once claimed, but had really been in contact with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby and had wilfully hindered their capture.

"It is a just verdict," said the prosecution, "and the defense, 'was to decide that Col. Lindbergh is still the most popular man in the country.'"

Curtis, who conducted lengthy negotiations for the return of the kidnaped baby, confessed that all his negotiations were a hoax, and later still repudiated the confession, said nothing. He plunged from the court room and almost ran back to his cell.

Sentence will be imposed July 11. The sentence being three years in prison and a fine of $1,000. At the insistence of one juror, who for a long time held out for acquittal, the verdict was accompanied by a recommendation for mercy.

The jury recommended mercy in announcing its verdict.

The case was given to the jury at 8:33 a. m., central standard time and the deliberations lasted almost exactly four hours. The jury returned at 12:45 p. m., there having been a little delay in bringing Curtis from the jail and the judge back to the court room which he had left shortly after the jury retired.

The verdict was announced by the foreman, Mrs. Lella Alpaugh, a Newark clerk.

Curtis came into court to hear the jury's decision with solemn face and walked directly to the bar of justice.

Mrs. Alpaugh announced the verdict in a clear, firm voice. There was a low murmur throughout the courtroom but there was no demonstration.

Curtis stared straight ahead of him and gave no sign of emotion. There was a low murmur throughout the courtroom but there was no demonstration.

Curtis stated straight ahead of him and gave no sign of emotion. There was a low murmur throughout the courtroom but there was no demonstration.

When the jury was polled for votes, eleven responded "guilty" and recommended mercy.

It was reported that in five ballots the jury stood eleven to one for conviction, that one holding out for acquittal. After agreement was reached to make a recommendation for mercy, he voted for conviction.

The defense announced it intended to file an appeal immediately. Curtis' two attorneys, George and Sandusky, were visibly affected by the verdict. Sandusky, the younger of the two, seemed completely stunned, his mouth agape in evident surprise. The prisoner was gone from the room before either of them had a chance to speak to him.

Curtis will be sentenced on July 11 by Judge Adam O. Robbins, who presided at the trial. The maximum penalty under the indictment on which Curtis was convicted is three years imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

The girls bagging in quickstep, some of the Texans joined in carrying banners for their candidate. The pipe organ got into it too, but it didn't last very long. Chairman Walsh turned the speaker's stand over to the Texas delegation, which read a telegram announcing that Gov. Roosevelt was less than 60 miles from Chicago.

Nomination Unanimous. Then Tinley, who had nominated Tinley, took the platform and asked that General Tinley himself be recognized "to make a motion." The convention agreed, and amid much hand clapping and some cheering launched into a speech calling on the party to stand together and save the country in the present crisis.

Finally he moved that the nomination of Garner be made unanimous. Oregon seconded the motion, and when Connally put the motion there was a ringing shout of approval. The speaker then said "No" throughout the big hall.

"As a delegate from the state of Texas," said Connally, "I take great pleasure to be able to act as chairman of this convention, and to announce to you that John N. Garner is the nominee of this convention for vice president of the United States."

Some marching. All over the floor the standard-bearers were raised and waved tribute. There was some marching, too, led by the pipe organ and the Kluge Band, but mostly the delegates stayed in their places, looking on.

Texas marched around the circuit of the aisles several times, carrying their Garner lithographs. California's state flag, with its stars and stripes, carried waving above the tramping line. A number of state standards joined in.

The convention officials, not adverse to killing time while the delegates stood, made no effort to stop the demonstration. The same girl who led the original Garner celebration when he was put up for president, Miss Mary Patterson of Houston, mounted the speakers' stand, took over complete control, and waved a Texas state flag to the marchers, who seemed to be gathering increasing numbers, but left most of the noise making to the musicians.

New York Governor Is Named Friday Night On Fourth Convention Vote

CHICAGO, July 2.—(P)—Making new political history, the democratic National convention prolonged its sessions today to receive and welcome to leadership its choice for the presidency, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, nominated late last night by the unanimous support of the delegates of forty states.

Roosevelt won with 945 of the 1,144 total votes on the first ballot of the night session. Youth of the convention, when California and Texas swung to his support with the deliberate purpose of breaking up then and there the deadlock set upon him by his opponents.

That action was enough to put him over, wild demonstration followed and then state after state rushed to his aid. The convention was a scene of triumph and joy.

With the action today, the presidential candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He indicated, however, the democratic convention's choice pleased him in many ways.

Love, who in 1928 was instrumental in throwing the Texas vote to Hoover, said William G. McAdoo did the democratic party an invaluable service by "framing it from the influence of Tammany Hall and Raskobism."

"He cleared things up so we can really accomplish something for the country," the militant dry leader declared.

"In refusing to commit himself to support Roosevelt, Love stated: 'I want to see what he does about the platform, which is the rottenest thing that any man was ever asked to stand upon.'"

Alvin Moody Refuses Comment. HOUSTON, July 2.—(P)—Alvin S. Moody, a prominent Houston politician, declined today to comment either on the nomination of Roosevelt or the wet plank in the democratic national platform.

Moody declared, "I am not interested in electing a governor of Texas—in getting good government for the state—that I am in national politics."

GARNER IS PICKED FOR RUNNING MATE FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT

TEXAN AND NEW YORKER AS IDEAL TICKET FOR DEMOCRATIC PARTY

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(P)—Garner said today he will accept the Democratic vice presidential nomination if it is offered him at today's meeting of the convention. They made no move to call the final session until 1 o'clock after the fixed hour of 1 o'clock.

Garner himself would not comment on this but did reaffirm his announcement of a week ago of a willingness to serve his country and my party to the limit of my capacity.

Pressed for a more definite answer, Garner said: "I can't give you any service I could render to the country, the Democratic party or myself by making any statement either now or later."

Asked whether he would go to Chicago if nominated, Garner only repeated: "I won't talk about that."

"If the notification ceremony is held in Texas, there will probably be a barbecue, won't there?" a newspaper editor asked.

"That's your imagination working, not mine," Garner shot back. The speaker's work day had been the same as usual. From 7 o'clock onward he handled routine duties, pausing just before noon to see newspaper men.

Garner has filed formally for reelection in his Texas district and acceptance of a place on the national ticket would force his withdrawal from the congressional contest. But he still would be speaker for the short session of congress beginning in December.

By CEIL E. DICKSON. CHICAGO, July 2.—(P)—It looks like the Democratic national ticket will be "Roosevelt and Garner."

Word has been passed that Speaker Roosevelt is acceptable to Franklin D. Roosevelt, the presidential nominee, as his running mate.

The Democratic convention therefore was today given quickly the stamp of approval of the very Texas legislator in winding up its business.

Several other candidates were to be proposed, but with the 90 votes Garner received in California to give Roosevelt the presidential victory was all but assured.

It was understood Garner is willing to accept the nomination. The ticket was viewed by many party leaders as ideal. Garner, a veteran of 30 years in the house, and speaker since the Democrats seized control Dec. 7, 1931, is a Democratic leader and a campaigner. In rough and ready degree his friends regard him as able to meet all comers.

Senator Connally of Texas, who placed Garner in nomination for the presidency, undertook to nominate him for the vice presidency. It will be the first time a speaker of the house has been given the vice presidential nomination.

That Roosevelt leaders favor Garner was definitely indicated by a statement of James A. Farley, campaign manager, that the Texas legislator's name had contributed notably to the success of Roosevelt.

"Garner is a great American; a great Democrat," Farley said, although still declining to discuss the vice presidential possibility of Garner.

Geographically, Garner's selection appealed to leaders as perfect. Roosevelt previously expressed the desire to have a running mate from the west of the Mississippi to balance his Eastern location. Garner is popular generally but particularly so in the Middle and Far Western agricultural states.

Garner is rugged, straightforward type. By dogged determination he rose from a poor and sickly youth to a vigorous, healthy statesman, banker and farmer. In addition he has the outstanding experience in congress on taxation and national fiscal affairs. He is 63 years old and his home is at Uvalde.

To Prevent Deadlock. Friends of the Texas legislator explained that though Garner considered the vice presidency less powerful than the job of handling the speaker's gavel, he decided to withdraw from the presidential race to keep the party united and to prevent a recurrence of the 1924 deadlock. When informed of the situation yesterday after the third ballot, he told Representative Sam Rayburn, chairman of the Texas delegation, by long distance telephone to release the Texas and California delegations from their pledges to vote for him.

Garner himself said he would serve his party in any way he could, announcing at the same time he was for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, against which he voted when it was enacted.

Plan Nomination By Acclamation. CHICAGO, July 2.—(P)—A move to nominate Speaker John N. Garner for the vice presidency by acclamation gathered force today as several delegations pledged support to the Texas.

The movement was started by the Texas and California delegations and won quick response from Alabama, North Carolina, Michigan and several other states.

Indications were that several of the expected candidates might not permit their names to be presented at the convention.

Word, however, was definite, was received at Roosevelt headquarters that Speaker Garner would accept the nomination as running mate to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In addition to the demand developed for him in the convention, Garner is understood to be prompted by his desire to take the stump against President Herbert Hoover and Vice President Charles Curtis, Republican nominees.

Garner recently issued a challenge to meet Herbert Hoover in open debate before the members of the house. He said at that time he would debate with Hoover more than anything else.

Tennessee for Garner. CHICAGO, July 2.—(P)—Tennessee delegates decided today to cast their 24 votes for John N. Garner for the vice presidential nomination.

BALLOTING SHOWS CLOSELY KNIT ROOSEVELT MACHINE AND DEVOTION TO SMITH

By D. HAROLD OLIVER. CHICAGO, July 2.—(P)—Written from the cold figures of the four gruelling presidential ballots, the story of the 1932 democratic national convention reveals the staying qualities of the closely-knit Roosevelt delegations and the devotion of Al Smith's eastern strength in the face of certain defeat.

Throughout the quartet of long and weary roll calls, Franklin D. Roosevelt not only won unwavering support, but kept up a steady pull until his margin was so big that it forced capitulation of the Garner and most of the favorite son delegations.

Smith, second in running throughout, received the solid support of Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island on all four ballots, and lost only 11% of the vote between the first and last roll call.

On the other hand, Roosevelt, who polled 68% on the first, gained 11% on the second ballot, 51-2% more on the third and 28-21% more on the last.

The states switching their votes and the way they lined up on the four ballots follow:

RIDGED NAILS

Have you ridged finger nails? or else a thick vaseline or a special cuticle cream, around the edges, and work as much in as possible, by using your orange-wood stick to push back the cuticle. Do this every night, by the way, to feed the newly grown nail under the skin. It's a pity we all use enamel, for if the nails were rubbed several times a day with oil, they would benefit.

Take salts, to work off poisons from the kidneys and the liver. Take exercises to make the usual functions of the body normal. Drink a lot of water; keep a pitcher handy, and drink eight to twelve glasses a day. Put a spoonful of bicarbonate of soda in each pitcherful, enough to make the water slightly alkaline. This counteracts acidity.

Dear Miss F. H. Lanoline is very fattening, and while it is an animal oil, it is often used for extra nourishment in cream. It has less tendency to encourage hair to grow than any other animal fat has, and if you have no such tendency you are quite safe in trying it out.

Try An Emery Buffer On Them

Down, the nails oiled, and, later, the entire nail gone over with brilliant enamel. New ridges will grow in, which must be treated the same way, but that is never difficult.

Meantime, by the proper use of oils and creams, you can keep the new growth of nail in such good shape that the ridges will lessen. If you rid your system of acid, and of possible uric acid poisoning, you'll find the nails will grow smooth and healthy looking of themselves, too.

The first step should be to buy an emery buffer. These are not costly, and they are wonderfully useful. Take all the enamel off your nails, then polish them with the emery buffer. Some people find that soap and water on the emery stone makes this job easier. Be careful that you rub off only the ridges; do not, under any circumstances, rub the nail thin, or you will have very sore fingers.

When you have smoothed off the ridges, wash the nails and then rub them with oil. Leave this on all night. Rub a thick cream,

DEMOCRATS HEAD ONWARD TO PUSH CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY

BREACH BETWEEN SMITH- ROOSEVELT REMAINS; FEW OTHER TRACES CONFLICT

CHICAGO, July 4.—(P)—The democrats were heading home-ward from convention today to mend the wounds of the recent fight and unite in a solid front to carry the Roosevelt-Garner pent-agon to that victory they have predicted for November.

Aside from the deep breach be- tween Franklin D. Roosevelt and Fred E. Smith and the unan- swered question of whether the latter will support the nominee, there were few traces of the re- cent conflict.

Like Smith, Frank Hague, may- or of Jersey City, and Smith's manager in the fight just ended, went home in silence. There was a conciliatory gesture today from Senator Walsh of Massachu- setts, another one of the Smith- ites, in the form of a state- ment calling on Massachusetts democrats to support the ticket and pledging his own for the cause.

Governor Roosevelt, accom- panied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Thomas E. Dewey, New York's opposi- tion candidate, and six secretaries, left Chicago for Albany last night by train.

Despite the fact the governor's car was placed on a siding in a crowded section of the yards, a crowd surrounded it half an hour before train-time. Roosevelt and his wife appeared on the rear platform for several minutes, smiling, while flashlight pictures were snapped by the photograph- ers.

The most serious problem— the question of determining what Smith's position will be— was taken over by James A. Farley, national chairman of the demo- cratic committee. Farley plan- ned to have a conference with Smith when he arrives in New York. The two are old friends. Farley declined to say whether he would ask Smith to take an active part in the campaign. He even if the 1928 nominee did not work actively for the election of Roosevelt, he would give his best support.

The campaign itself already is under way so far as the democrats are concerned. Roosevelt started Saturday when he flew here to make his acceptance speech, doing away with the traditional formal- ity that has surrounded such oc- casions in the past.

He continued it when he went before the national committee today. It had been decided that it was clear he does not intend to make it a one-issue campaign, but will choose his texts from the whole democratic platform and repeat his issues to the sections of the country. While Smith is making an active campaign, all plans are highly tentative so far. The national headquarters prob- ably will be established in New York.

ENGLISH BEAUTY IS ON TRIAL CHARGED DEATH SOCIETY MAN

MRS. ELVIRA DOLORES BARNEY PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO MYSTERY MURDER

LONDON, July 4.—(P)—Mrs. El- vira Dolores Barney, former ac- tive agent of England's most beautiful women, stood in the dock of the Old Bailey crim- inal court today and calmly an- swered "Not guilty" to the charge of having shot and killed Michael Stephen, London society man, in her apartment May 31.

The old courtroom was packed with Londoners who fought their way in to hear the testimony in the murder trial of the pretty ac- tress. A tense silence pervaded the room as the murder charge was read.

Mrs. Barney, whose husband, in whom she is estranged, is an African singer, stood in the dock, dressed entirely in black, her face pale, and heard the charge in- stead. She braced herself at the start of the reading and her voice came clearly through the court- room as she answered "Not guilty."

With Justice Humphreys on the bench, the prosecutor, Sir Percival Keble, then proceeded to open his case for the crown.

Stephen, 26, well known in on- ly's smart circles, was shot fol- lowing a cocktail party in Mrs. Barney's apartment in Williams- town, Knightsbridge.

His father is a retired senior partner of a firm of stock broker- s, which held an appointment to the national debt commission. Stephen was a son of T. M. Steph- en, manager of the North of Scotland Bank.

Neighbors, who heard the shoot- ing in the early morning hours of May 31, said they heard Stephen shout: "Oh, what have you done?" and then Mrs. Barney's voice re- sponding: "Chicken! Chicken! I'm sorry! Come back to me! I'll do anything you ask!"

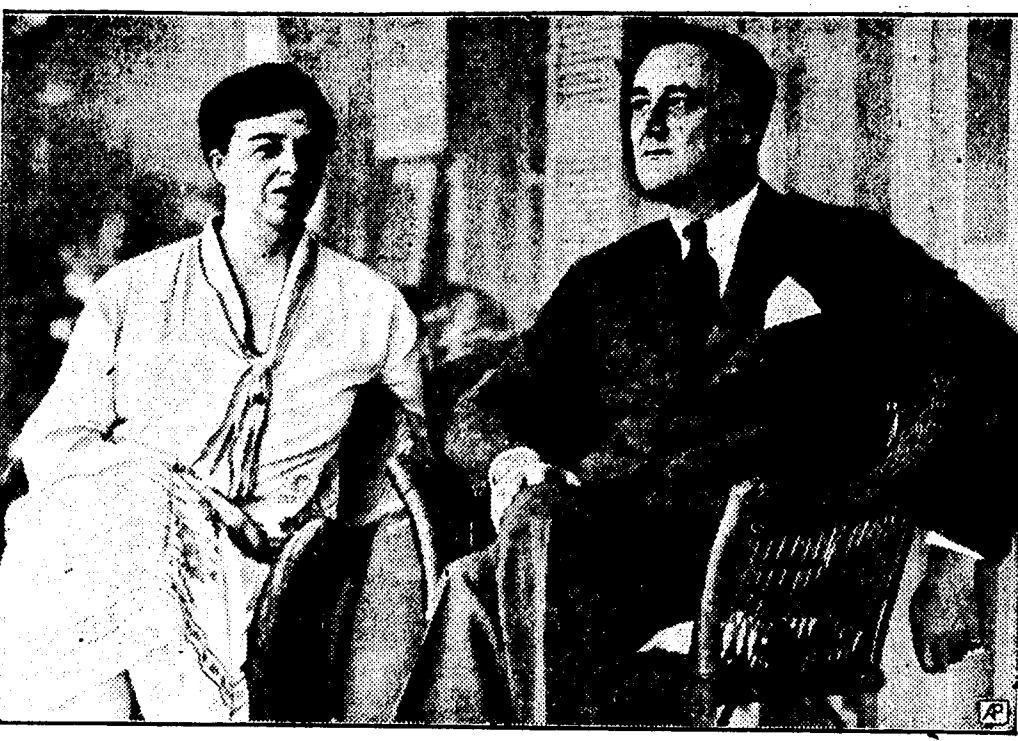

Sir Bernard Spilsbury, ballistics expert for Scotland Yard, testified at a former hearing it was unlik- ely the wound from which Stephen died was self-inflicted.

Mrs. Barney was sent to prison to await trial. Her defense was arranged by her father and moth- er, who obtained the services of Sir Patrick Hastings, one of Lon- don's most brilliant attorneys, for her defense.

FARMERS GATHERED MANY COMMUNITIES IN ECONOMIC RALLY

NEW DECLARATION OF IN- DEPENDENCE DECLARED IN RURAL UNITED STATES

OTTUMWA, Ia., July 4.—(P)— Farmers gathered in 10,000 rural communities today under the ban- ner of the American Farm Bureau Federation heard speakers pro- claim that this day a new Declara- tion of Independence was born.

It was a declaration, they were told, for freedom "from economic tyrannies that long have obstruct- ed the advance of the nation's ba- sic industry, agriculture."

E. A. O'Neal, president of the federation, addressing thousands of southeastern farmers and town- speople here, sounded the keynote of this nation-wide rally of farm- ers.

Picnics were held wherever the Farm Bureau organization has reached in commemoration at once of Independence Day and as ap- preciation of the farmer's contri- bution to the George Washington bicentennial celebra- tion.

The political parties, O'Neal charged, have failed to relieve farm situation and the farmer's answer should be a war of bal- lots against forces of "organized selfishness and indifference."

At both major political conven- tions, he declared, "not a single voice was heard telling the parties of the actual condition and needs of the 30,000,000 people directly de- pendent on agriculture."

The time has come, he said, for farmers to assert themselves through a "12-4, not of violence, but of ballots."

"It must be a war," he advised, "aimed to send to congress men who will represent the interests of the farmers, not of campaign contributors."

Practically all departments of the courthouse were closed Mon- day morning to observe July Fourth, and the departments which opened during the morning, except the sheriff's office, will probably be closed during the afternoon.

Youth Is Given Life Sentence Second Trial

WAXAHACHIE, July 5.—(P)— William Cordelle Beck, 20-year- old Willis Point youth, today was under a life sentence for the murder of O. L. Jones, Waco au- tomobile salesman. The jury re- ported yesterday.

The defense had attempted to prove Beck insane as a result of being struck by a baseball in 1929. The youth, formerly a student at the University of Texas, was sen- tenced to death at a trial in Waco but won a reversal. In a confession made before the first trial, he admitted killing Jones and robbing him of $2 when the latter gave him a ride from Lan- caster to Waco. Jones was an automobile salesman.

Neighbors, who heard the shoot- ing in the early morning hours of May 31, said they heard Stephen shout: "Oh, what have you done?" and then Mrs. Barney's voice re- sponding: "Chicken! Chicken! I'm sorry! Come back to me! I'll do anything you ask!"

FIRST OKLAHOMA PRIMARY BE HELD IN STATE TUESDAY

LITTLE INTEREST HAS BEEN CREATED IN PRESENT OKLAHOMA CAMPAIGN

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4.— (P)—Terminating a campaign which has created little interest, candidates made use of indepen- dence Day by voicing final pleas for votes at tomorrow's first Okla- homa primary.

It was the first time in Okla- homa history that the Fourth of July has been the final day for campaigning.

An estimated 400,000 voters will cast ballots for some 800 candi- dates in state races and an aver- age of 100 candidates per county for county offices.

A United States senator, eight district congressmen and one con- gressman at large, four supreme justices, one criminal court of ap- peals judge, one corporation com- missioner, 22 state senators and 118 house members are to be named this year.

A dozen candidates, seven of them democrats, are in the sen- atorial contests. The veteran dem- ocrat, Senator Elmer Thomas, seeks renomination. This race, with the free-for-all for the new congress-at-large post and the vig- orous opposition facing two vet- eran democratic representatives— W. W. Hastings in the second dis- trict and J. V. McClintic in the seventh—provides most of the in- terest. There are few outstand- ing issues.

Unless leading candidates must- er a clear majority, they must enter a run-off July 26 with their nearest opponents.

COMPROMISE PLAN FOR REPARATIONS IS BELIEVED NEAR

WHOLE MATTER HINGES ON TAXING UNITED STATES FOR WAR COSTS

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 4.—(P)—A compromise plan for set- tlement of the reparations prob- lem, including a provision which links it with war debts due the United States, was considered to- day by the German delegation to the Lausanne conference.

Predictions were freely made that the Germans would accept the new proposal, even though it contained a safeguard clause, in- serted by France, similar to that rejected by Chancellor Franz Von Papen last week.

In the new proposal, the clause was somewhat veiled, however, and replaced the original demand that elimination of reparations pay- ments be made conditional on America's agreement to revise the debt schedules with a "gentle- man's agreement" delaying the ef- fectiveness of the plan until the United States had been heard from on the debt question.

Under the present draft, it was understood, Chancellor Von Papen would be allowed to claim that reparations are ended, while at the same time Premier Herriot could maintain that France was safeguarded against the United States on the debt.

The final amount of the bond issue which Germany would guar- antee, partly to take the place of reparations and partly for eco- nomic reconstruction in Europe, was expected to be between $720, 000,000 and $1,008,000,000. The maximum figure represents a re- duction of about 96 per cent of the Young plan reparations figure.

The bond issue which Germany would be expected to authorize in lieu of reparations payments would have no value for three years, it was understood, after which the bank for international settlements would decide when it should be capitalized.

Chancellor Von Papen's first objections to the plan were against the amount Germany was called on to guarantee, which he thought too high; against the manner of issuing the bonds, which he insisted should make provision against a possible fi- nancial crisis when the bonds would be eventually translated into money values, and against the fact no provision was made for annulling the war guilt clause of the Versailles treaty.

Grocers Outwit Recession; Build New Store Easily

JOLIET, Ill., July 4.—(P)— This business recession isn't worrying Anton and John Gro- har, brothers, who sell grocer- ies for a living.

And neither are the delinquent bills of their customers. They're using them to build a new store.

The lease on their building is soon to expire and Anton pro- posed that they build a store of their own.

"But," said John, "how can we do it? We have been carry- ing 60 per cent of the custom- ers and we're short of cash."

"It's easy," replied Anton, "Well let the customers do it. And so they said to their cus- tomers:

"You men are workers. We have the material. You build the store. We'll give you jobs and you'll be allowed 50 cents an hour against your bills."

Fifty men sprang to action. The building is going up in a hurry and everybody's happy.

If elected in November—and the democratic nomination has been tantamount to election in North Carolina for 30 years—Reynolds will take his seat immediately.
